

defining one single European Transport Area

A long term strategy to create, a sustainable EU transport network by 2050, with seamless connections for people, regions and businesses. Transport is vital to the European economy. Without good connections Europe will not grow or prosper.

